POLITICAL XMAS TREE

To Whom Will the Executive Santa Claus Hand the Gifts.

A FEW POLITICAL POSSIBILITIES

Bidders for Federal Patronage Are Springing Up on Every Hand—
And the Cry is Still They Come—
Bitter Fight—What Does It Mean?
—Gold Makes Its Appearance.

"They cry is still they come." Reference is not here had to the button fiend or the bicycle girl, but to aspirants for honors under the new administration. In addition to those names mentioned yesterday for Federal gifts in yesterday's issue, a number of new ones have within the last twenty-four hours presented themselves, and there are many precincts yet to hear from. If Major McKinley doesn't wish he were back again in his vine clad veranda at Canby before the six months have passed over his Presidential head, it won't be the fault of the millions who will sue for his favor in the distribution of the good things now hanging temptingly on the Federal Christmas tree waiting the coming of the Executive Santa Claus. When he does arrive it looks very much as though, instead of "peace on earth, good will toward men," there will be a general scrapping match which will doubtless result in very numerous figurative but non-Christian black eyes and broken noses.

NEITHER LAST NOR LEAST.
Neither last nor least among those who would like to serve our Uncle with the striped pants is Col. James Lyons, who deems himself the right man for the United States District Attorneyship, a position which he would doubtless fill with credit and ability were he given a chance. Col. Lyons is ex-chief of Governor O'Fallon's staff and was recently nominated by the Baker-Mitchell faction for Presidential elector in the Third District. He was withdrawn later, as is known, by the State Committee. Col. Lyons was also Assistant District Attorney under the Cleveland regime to Callett Gibson.

NOT SO FAMOUS, STILL—
Mr. D. Lawrence Groner is, perhaps, not so famous as Col. Lyons, still he is never a Democrat and has that in his favor with the administration to which he will apply for the position of District Attorney also, not that the job of Assistant is too small for him, but because—well, it's a case of rather be first in the race than second. Mr. Groner has done some considerable work, though he may not be the modicum Napoleon that the Colonel has, but will go to Richmond in the morning and hold a conference there with certain ones of the influential, after which, his course mapped out, he will cling on to the coat tails of the Attorneyship until something gives way.

WHEN THEY FIND IT ALL OUT.
When it is discovered who will have the pull with His Excellency from this district, Mr. S. C. Clary will probably know to a more definite extent what his chances are for the position of Collector of the Port. He is and has been a most ardent Lamb man, and if the Colonel comes out on top of the heap, Mr. Clary's stock may be quoted above an apical position on the forehead of Major Banks. Mr. Clary's old opponent, eight years ago, may have a chance to crow again. Meantime, as before stated, Col. J. R. Waddy is still a candidate, though in the event of the selection of Mr. Clary would not consider it beneath him to accept the office of Postmaster at this port.

SPEAKING OF POSTMASTERS.
Speaking of Postmasters, Capt. Harry Sheen is out for the same fat job and as a member of the younger Republicanism will receive a large junior support, though this is not the only place he will look. In this connection Capt. H. B. Nichols and Capt. Robert W. Lamb may be again mentioned, as their thoughts are just now flowing in the same channel with those of Capt. Sheen.

Col. J. D. Brady would like to get back his old place of Internal Revenue Collector. It pays $4,500.

A FOREIGN MISSION.
General V. D. Groner, it is said, would be decidedly pleased with some foreign mission. He has not yet said where he would like to go. There are a number of places he might be sent—Cuba and Spain would present interesting fields. There is a chance for good missionary work in China, and the General might occupy his mind trying to settle the Venezuelan boundary line question.

In the matter of foreign missions there are a number of people who are wondering if Major McKinley will not be kind enough to donate Mr. George E. Bowden to some savage land as a consul, a minister or anything. There are some people who are very anxious to get Mr. Bowden out of the country and it is improbable that he would accept a foreign birth—after he has finished his fight here.

MR. W. H. FAIRLESS LIKEWISE.
Mr. W. H. Fairless, of Portsmouth, the gentleman who injected more gold politics into a labor day address than any other one man in the country last September, is a candidate for Supervisor and Inspector of Steamboats. George Jones would not be averse to the Inspectors' clerkship and Pat Sullivan is said to yearn once more for the Boiler Inspectorship.

DEPENDS ON THE MAJOR.
If President McKinley gives his support to the civil service theory of the Government Billy Webb, Charley Fitchett, Billy Clegg and others who have let the present Democrats continue to munch at the Custom-house crib and hide themselves away to Washington and take in some of the spoils of that more prolific field, for all of the Custom-house attaches are said to be classified, as are all of those in the postoffice of any desirability, including the Assistant Postmaster.

WHERE IS HE AT?
"Where is he at?" This is a question that is now agitating a good many people, the subject of their solicitation being Dr. R. A. Wise, late Congressional alumnus. There are some who say the Doctor will have something to say about this Federal patronage business, but the indications are that he will recede once more to private life and usefulness, and let the political buzz saw alone for several years at least.

WILL HE CONTEST? HARDLY.
Dr. Wise was a distinguished visitor to the city yesterday, and was closeted for some time with his friends. He was non-intervenable, but it was not difficult to learn that the object of his visit was to get advice as to the advisability of contesting Mr. Young's election. While the result of the conference was not made public, the Virginian is able to say with some degree of confidence that it was hardly satisfactory to the doctor, and he is anxious to displace the newly elected Congressman. It is almost certain that he was advised to let it alone, but it is said that his brother, John S. Wise, of New York, was consulted as last authority on the subject, and if he says fight, fight it will be.

So far as the local leaders are concerned, exclusive of the flat of Mr. John S. Wise, of New York, it may be stated that they look upon two facts as being obstacles in the way of a successful contest. First, Mr. Young's magnificent majority that cannot be appreciably reduced, for if there is any throwing out to do, the Democrats here can do as much of it as their friends, the enemy. Second, the big Republican majority in the House. If said Republican majority were very close, say carrying a margin of only two or three, it is probable that the members would take time to consider Mr. Wise's claims, and seat him, whether he deserved a seat or not. But as such is not the case, the newly-elected Congress is going to look after the broken shins of any unfortunate companion who may have gotten left at the post. As a matter of fact, the Republicans of the Second District realize only too well that Dr. Wise was not only beaten, but beaten by a thrush into outer darkness, as it were, past redemption.

RED FLAG—NOT OF ANARCHY.
If you want to wave a red flag in the face of a gold Democrat, ask him why he cut Whaley's throat. This is a startling question and does not mean that Mr. Whaley is not just as well in body and soul as he was thirty days ago. It simply means that he was politically murdered. The truth of the matter is not gainsaid. The gold Democrats themselves the day before the election claimed that they knew positively that Mr. Whaley had at least 1,500 votes in Norfolk city. They could tell you the names of a score of his voters. It may be, well, Mr. Whaley got only 540 votes. What became of the other thousand? A pertinent question. It may be mentioned in passing that about half the support the gold men did receive came from anti-silver Republicans who never joined a sound money league. It may also be said that the supporters of Mr. Whaley looked for him to receive at least 1,000 "silent" votes. Incidentally, while on the subject of "silent" votes, there is one office in this city which employs other which pays salary to seven more. Four out of this eighteen voted. The other fourteen did not. They were afraid to.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?
The general public need not be surprised to hear something drop within the next few weeks, for some time very shortly the public State Committee is going to meet, probably in November. When it does, Lew Morrison will have to take a back seat as a creator of Brooklyn scenes. Some sensational business will come up before the body, not the least of which will be that of making a change in the personnel of the committee. There are a number of two sides to the question, and it is heads or tails on the general result.

Colonel Lamb, State Chairman, isn't saying much, but it is no stretch of the imagination to say that he is thinking hard, and he is prepared when the time comes to come out of the wood.

IT WILL NEVER END.
The battle between Colonel Lamb and his friends and Hon. George E. Bowden and his friends is only in its incipency. The next few weeks will develop some of the fiercest fighting ever seen in the State. If signs of the approaching struggle do not lie, there is no longer any chance or desire for a compromise between the two factions. Now that the spoils are to be divided, it is the best man that wins.

YELLOW METAL IN EVIDENCE.
Meanwhile, while factions are fighting, and hopes are budding in aspiring breasts, King Gold, with a firmer grip upon his recently impelled sceptre, has deigned to make his appearance once more to the eyes of ordinary workaday mortals. Gold coins are again to be seen, and the chances of local trade are being paid over the counters of our banking institutions, which two weeks ago would as soon have thought of paying you in diamonds or pearls as in eagles and double eagles.

HON. MARION BUTLER

Issues a Lengthy Statement to the People of the United States.

THE LOYALTY OF THE PEOPLE'S PARTY

They Stood by Bryan Because of Their Devotion to the Cause of Free Coinage of Silver—Had the Democratic Ranks Been Without
Traitors Bryan Would Have Won.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Senator Marion Butler, chairman of the National People's party, to-day issued the following statement:

To the People of the United States:
In the remarkable campaign just closed the People's party was the only party that supported solidly and unitedly the great and vital issues represented in the candidacy of Mr. Bryan. This was natural for the People's party came into existence to bring to the front and to press to victory the principles of Lincoln and Jefferson, already long discarded by the two old parties. The money power, feeling reasonably sure of its control and domination of the leadership, and the controlling influences in the Republican party in 1892, gave its support to the candidacy of Grover Cleveland for the special purpose of having him, through the use of patronage and otherwise, to crush out the silver sentiment in the South, and make the lead in the party as completely subservient as those in the Republican party. To accomplish this purpose four Cabinet Ministers were selected from the South and an unusually large amount of patronage used on political leaders to the same end. It will be remembered that Mr. Cleveland demanded that the Democratic Senators and Congressmen give a decisive vote in the interests of the gold standard before he would even give out the postoffice.

POPULISTS TO THE RESCUE.
This deep laid plan might have succeeded had not the People's party at this juncture sprung into existence, exposed the plot, stood in the breach and appealed to the patriotic hosts of both the reform and the gold standard people's despisers and rally to the common defense. This the People's party forced the Democratic organization to repudiate Cleveland and to return to correct fundamental principles.

Not only this, the People's party then forced the Democratic party to cease hedging and straddling and to come out and declare for the gold standard. To take a stand on one side or the other of the vital issues at stake. The issue now being squarely joined, it was evident that the influences in the Democratic party which had long ago debauched the party for a quarter of a century would be driven to the support of the party that took a position on the side of the trusts, monopolies and money gamblers. While, on the other hand, it is evident that the vast majority of the Republican party favored the principles now squarely forced to the front, yet only a small per cent. would in this campaign support them because they found them under a Democratic banner.

PREJUDICE.
Had it not been for the prejudice against the Democratic name, as well as against confidence in Democratic promises, which it must be frankly admitted, past experience furnishes ample justification, a majority of the voters of the country, in spite of the tremendous and unparalleled forces put forward by the Republican managers, would have cast their votes for financial reform and American independence.

The People's party, with a high patriotism and unselfish devotion to principle, greater than ever before exhibited by any other party, stepped outside of its organized lines to throw two million votes solidly for Mr. Bryan. Had not more than this number who called themselves Democrats in 1892 given their support to Mr. McKinley, the cause of the people and American principles would have triumphed this year.

This class of Democrats will surely support the party of monopolies and trusts in the future. Their place in the ranks of the reform hosts must be taken by patriotic Republicans. In fact, Bryan would have been elected in 1892 had even 25,000 more silver Republicans come to the rescue. The election of McKinley, and the triumph of the gold standard does not express the desires and sentiments of the American people. The majority oppose the policy for which he stands and will so vote whenever an opportunity is presented for a proper alignment. The remarkable and brilliant campaign of William J. Bryan would have aligned these forces and marched them to a triumphant victory if any candidate or leader in America could have done so under the Democratic banner.

DOESN'T EXPECT PROSPERITY.

The administration of McKinley cannot bring prosperity to the American people. The mills cannot be kept open, idle labor, open employment and general prosperity restored and maintained unless the wealth producers receive their fair returns for their labor, and are thus enabled to purchase. The gold standard and monopoly ring, a continuation of which Mr. McKinley stands pledged, means four years of falling prices, four years more of lock-outs, four more years of reduced wages and idle labor. This will cause the patriotic rank and file of the Republican party to condemn and repudiate McKinleyism as the patriotic rank and file of the Democratic party has condemned and repudiated Clevelandism.

A DAY OF RECKONING.

I cannot believe otherwise, for I have not less confidence in the patriotism of this class of Republicans, than the rank and file of the Democratic party has already demonstrated. Therefore, a large percent who, though not fooled by the spectious pleas of "honest money" and promised prosperity, yet would not in this campaign fight under the Democratic banner, will surely join hands with the majority of the American voters outside of the old parties to overthrow a Government of fraud and monopoly run in the interests of foreign capitalists. The People's party has made this possible; in fact, inevitable. The position of the People's party in this great contest has convinced every patriotic American that the party can be trusted to stand for the principles of good Government, and the interests of the people under any and all circumstances. Therefore, the People's party will be the nucleus around which the patriotic hosts must and will gather to rescue a betrayed Republic and restore prosperity to an opposed and outraged people.

TURKISH REFORMS.

The Porte Makes Fine Promises to France.

Paris, Nov. 7.—Advice received here from Constantinople show that when the Sultan issued a report of the speech delivered by M. Hanotaux, the French Foreign Minister in the Chamber of Deputies, last Tuesday, in response to an interpellation demanding to know what action France would take in defence of the Armenians, he sent one of his Secretaries to M. Hanotaux, the French Ambassador, who impressed upon the Sultan the urgency that existed for the Sultan to adopt measures that would reassure public opinion and satisfy Europe.

The Turkish Ambassador in London has just informed M. Hanotaux that the Sultan has decided upon carrying out the following reforms:
The release of the prisoners throughout the empire, against whom no charges are preferred, to instruct the police that peaceable Armenians are not to be persecuted to elect a Patriarch, to convene a National Assembly, to order martial law for allowing Father Salvator to be murdered; to dismiss the Vail of Arbeki for the share he took in the disorders there; to precisely instruct the Vails to repress violence, to undertake the indemnification of the Roman Catholic convents in Anatolia which were damaged during the outbreaks, to assist the inhabitants of the districts which suffered most to publish shortly a decree ordering the prompt execution in Anatolia of the reforms granted in 1895, and the extension of these reforms to the whole empire.

M. Hanotaux thanked the Ambassador for the information, and told him that he had precisely instructed M. Cambon to watch the application of these preliminary measures.

A BROTHER'S VENGEANCE.

He Metes Out Terrible Punishment for a Terrible Crime.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 7.—Near Hague, in Columbia county, John Roberts killed his brother Nathan Roberts. While John Roberts was away from home, Nathan called and attempted to assault Mrs. Roberts. The husband, surprised, his brother, and shot him dead. Mrs. Roberts is in a serious condition.

IOWA LEGISLATURE.

A Call for an Extra Session Issued by the Governor.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 7.—Governor Drake to-day issued a call for an extra session of the Legislature. It will begin January 19th, and will probably last fifty days. The object is to complete the revision of the State Code, which was begun at regular session last winter.

Killed by a Marshall.

Perry, Okla., Nov. 7.—Deputy Marshal Frank M. Canton shot and killed Bee Dunn at Pawnee last night. It is said that Canton gave himself a large reward for the capture of the Dalton gang and Bee Dunn, who was under indictment for harboring outlaws, and effected the death of the several of the outlaw gang.

A DAY ON THE GRIDIRON

Football Matches Between Many Crack
Elvens Played at Various Points.

PENNSYLVANIA'S GAME WITH INDIANS

Quakers Do Some Sensational Playing in Defeating the Carlisle School—Princeton Defeats Harvard's Crippled Team—West Point and Wesleyan Tie.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—The Pennsylvania Quakers shook off the lethargy to-day that has paralyzed their football playing this season and took the scalp of the Carlisle Indians by a score of 31 to 0.

Not in the history of intercollegiate football has there been a game that had a more sensational and exciting finish than this afternoon's contest on Franklin Field, and never has any team given a more superb exhibition of plucky up-and-down play than the Quakers. The hill playing in face of odds and grand line bucking than did the gallant Redskins of Carlisle. After having been unable to gain throughout the entire game and having been steadily driven back upon their goal, the Indians, with ten minutes left to play, secured the ball on their 49-yard line.

GREAT BUCKING.

Then began the greatest exhibition of line bucking ever seen here. The wild fighting blood of the red men was up and they bore straight for their white adversaries' goal line. The Indians used massed line tactics and the Quakers carried the ball. Agony and adversity made the full-back hurried himself against the Quaker line. Strive as they could, Pennsylvania's line was torn to pieces by the fierce and desperate assault upon it. Surely but steadily Metoxen carried the pigskin to the goal line, where he made a clever rush and run sixty yards, making a touch-down and goal, scoring six points.

A WILD SCENE.

The Quaker full-back lost his head and did not even touch the ball, but threw it clear away from his foot into the line of men in front of him. An Indian fell on it. Two plunges and Metoxen and H. Pierce carried the ball to Pennsylvania's 10-yard line. Cayton went around the left and for five yards. Then he went around the right end and was thrown by Overfield two yards from the coveted chalk-line. It was the first down and it looked as if nothing could save a touch-down. From thousands of Pennsylvania throats came the appealing cry, "Hold them, Pen." Straight into the mass of men Metoxen plunged. The line broke, but none could tell if beneath that mass of men Metoxen had gone over for a touch-down. A wild cheer rent the air when the players were pulled off each other and Metoxen was seen lying with the ball, but not over the goal line. There were still two downs and Metoxen was again. Not a sound arose from 15,000 people as the men faced the line. It was a grim grapple, and not one of those twenty-two men but would have broken a limb or even his neck to make or save the touch-down. The Quakers crowded close to the ground like so many wild beasts waiting to spring. With clenched teeth and fierce faces the Indians hurled themselves upon their foes.

AN AWFUL CRUSH.

There was an awful crush and swaying of fighting men, and then the human mass went down in a heap. Again came that dead silence as the men sullenly rolled off each other in response to the referee's whistle. Then again a tumultuous shout arose, for the white men had met the onslaught and Metoxen had again been stopped right on the line. One more chance remained. As Metoxen dashed into the line the Quaker rushers heaved and threw the entire team back and the touch-down was lost by six inches.

Then the referee's whistle blew and the game was over.

Pandemonium broke loose, and their fellow students swarmed over the ground and nearly tore the Quakers to pieces in the endeavor to congratulate them. Pennsylvania's play throughout was a revelation as compared with their previous work this year. They played fast, fierce football, and bucked the Indian line for a score of 12 to 0. It is evident that Pennsylvania will not have a strong full back this year, as Mink's kicking, while much improved, was still very weak.

The Indians played their usual strong and steady game, but at no time were they possible winners.

PRINCETON 12; HARVARD 0.

The Crimson 1 overed by Reason of a Crippled Team.

Boston, Nov. 7.—Princeton defeated Harvard on Soldiers' Field this afternoon by a score of 12 to 0. The story of the game being the record of a crippled eleven fighting desperately against opponents in good condition. The day was perfect, the breeze being little or no wind, and an attendance of about 20,000.

In the first half neither side scored. Princeton directed a mass play against Harvard's substitute tackle, and they held their opponents nobly. Several times Princeton had to relinquish the ball on downs, and it was then immediately kicked out of danger. The nearest Princeton came to scoring in the first half was when he got down to Harvard's seven yard line, and was there held by a gallant rally on Harvard's part.

HARVARD BADLY WOUNDED.

The game was really decided about five minutes after the opening of the second half. Harvard seemed so fagged out by his efforts in the first half that he could not put her offensive plays through. With the ball on Harvard's forty-yard line, Brewer having just replaced Cabot, Princeton directed play at his end. By an irresistible rush, the whole Princeton eleven seemed to go between Swain and Brewer, and down the field for a touchdown. It was all done in a minute, and seemed to paralyze the whole Harvard eleven. Baird easily kicked the goal.

WEAK TACKLING DID IT.

The outcome of the game was definitely settled about ten minutes before the close. Princeton, by her long punts, was gradually forcing Harvard back to her goal line. When Harvard secured the ball on her ten yard line, Brown was sent back to kick, but Harvard's weakened tackles could not hold, and Church broke through and blocked the ball. It rolled back of the line, and Retter fell on it for a second touchdown. Baird easily made the goal. Time was fairly called with the ball in Princeton's possession on Harvard's thirty-yard line.

WEST POINT AND WESLEYAN.

A Fine Game That Results in a Tie.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 7.—The admirers of football got their money's worth this afternoon in a game between the cadets and the Wesleyan College team. The contest was a hard and rough battle, several men on both sides being severely injured. The cadets were short Humphrey, a guard, as he is laid up with a dislocated shoulder received in the game with Yale last Monday. Scenic, at tackle, was so badly injured this afternoon that Waldon was substituted.

West Point won the toss-up and in less than one minute Connor ran to a touchdown, but failed at goal, scoring only four points.

After the next line the ball was confined to Wesleyan's territory until Romney, by successive rushes, scored another touch-down for the cadets, but Connor again failed at goal.

In the next line-up, Wesleyan's back, rushed through the center and ran to a touch-down, covering over forty-five yards, and succeeded at goal, scoring six points for Wesleyan. Shortly after the men lined up Wing again made a clever rush and run sixty yards, making a touch-down and goal, scoring six more points.

In the second half neither side scored until near the close of the game, when Waldon, who was substituted for Scenic, rushed over the line and made a touch-down, but Connor again failed at goal. Total score: West Point, 12; Wesleyan, 12.

Hampton's Great Work.

Hampton shut out the University of North Carolina yesterday afternoon in a beautiful game, the score standing 18 to 0 in favor of the Crabbers.

The contest was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators, quite a number of whom went from Norfolk for the purpose. It was called at 3:30 o'clock sharp. The brilliant work of Massie and Armstrong (C.) kept the local fans in the features of the game, which was concluded at 5:30 p. m.

Pecans Defeat Victors.

A game of football was played yesterday between the Pecans and Victors in Ghent. Twenty-two minutes before the game played. The Victors kicked off and Walton, catching the ball, returned it ten yards before being downed. By continuous bucking and end plays the Pecans were able to send Hodges over the line, but making a fumble, Rogers secured the ball and scored a touch-down. Bowdoin kicked a difficult goal. Score, 6 to 0. In the second half the Pecans kicked off and McGrath catching it, returned it a few yards. The Victors being unable to advance the ball, it was given to the Pecans. Here Bowdoin made a brilliant run of sixty yards and a few minutes later made a touch-down. No goal. Score, 10 to 0. The Victors kicked off again, and Dornin catching it,
